

FRANK EVERETT GAINING STRENGTH IN RENO HOSPITAL

Frank Everett, who was recently operated upon in a hospital in Reno in hopes of effecting a cure for Jacksonian epilepsy, is getting along as well as could be expected and is daily gaining in strength. With the regaining of strength he is proving to be mentally better and has not had a touch of his great enemy since the first operation made on his head in this city when the pressure of the pus from the necrotic condition of the bone was removed.

WRIT OF VENUE IS DENIED RICKEY

Judge Langan Decides to Try the State Bank Cases in Ormsby County.

CARSON CITY, April 2.—That the troubles of the State Bank people is not yet over and that the attorneys are after T. B. Rickey, was shown in the district court this morning when Judge Langan opened for business. The case before the bar is that of an application of Mr. Rickey for a change of venue in the cases brought against him by Receiver Wildes. Judge Mack represented the receiver. Judge Massey, Sam Platt and Judge Donner were on hand to defend their clients, Messrs. Brougher, Mapes, Bender and others.

The main issue which is directed against Rickey, who is asking for a change of venue is based on the statement that it would be impossible for him to receive an impartial trial in this county. One fact was brought out at the argument this morning that the major portion of the depositors of the defunct bank reside in this county. Judge Mack in his answer states that only eight depositors reside in Storey county, twenty in Lyon county, twenty-four in Washoe county, forty-four in Douglas and 178 in Ormsby. Through this bit of evidence it is easy to see where this city and county comes off in regard to loss.

As there is a neat piece of legal tangle in the service of the affidavits by the attorneys for the receiver, Judge Langan took the matter under advisement until this afternoon.

One of the features of the hearing was the lack of interest that is evident in the matter. Aside from the attorneys in the case and the court officers the room was deserted.

At the afternoon session Judge Langan read his decision in the matters objected to by Attorneys Massey and Donner. In conclusion he overruled the objections to the filing of the affidavits of other parties to the suit aside from Rickey.

Upon question by Attorney Mack regarding the change of venue asked for by the attorneys of T. B. Rickey, Judge Langan denied the writ and the case will be tried in this county. Time was asked to set the trial and this matter will come up on the 9th, inst., when the date for the trial will be set.

This trial will involve a large amount of money, both on the part of Mr. Rickey and other members of the bank. The receiver is suing the president and the bank directors for nearly all the transactions that in any way lost money to the depositors.

The attorneys in court this afternoon all agreed that the trial would take a long time, probably running into a month or more.

The fact that Mr. Rickey was not represented by counsel today caused some comment. It is more than probable that the action of today will not be final as appeals will be taken, as objections were placed on file by both Massey and Donner. It is probable that when the day of setting trial, the 9th, inst., arrives, that Mr. Rickey will be represented by attorneys.

STOCK MARKET

But little trading was done yesterday during the session of the San Francisco stock exchange, and the demand for the Tonopah stocks was rather light. The railroad situation has served to make the outside investors rather timid, and all the buying orders of record were sent out from this city. West End regained five of the points lost during the early part of the week. Montana and Extension each advanced two points. MacNamara crept up one cent. Tonopah Mining and Belmont declined five points.

WELLS-FARGO TO HAVE OPPOSITION

PACIFIC EXPRESS WILL ENTER SAN FRANCISCO OVER THE WESTERN PACIFIC.

A dispatch from New York states that the Union Pacific railroad has sold to the Union Pacific railroad sold to the Gould interests $2,400,000 of the stock of the Pacific Express company, which the railroad has held in its treasury for years. The Goulds now absolutely control the express company, as all the stock which was not held by the Union Pacific was owned by the Wabash. The capital of the company is $6,000,000.

The purchase by the Gould interests of the $2,400,000 block of stock in the Pacific Express company from the Union Pacific presages the entrance of the Pacific Express company into San Francisco via the Western Pacific. The purchase also means the breaking of the express monopoly to the California coast.

The entrance of the Pacific Express company into San Francisco over the Western Pacific was the real object of the late Jay Gould when the Pacific was first projected, but counter moves by competitors prevented the carrying out of the plan.

HARRY EPSTINE MOVES HIS BROKERAGE OFFICE

Harry Epstine yesterday moved his brokerage office from the Brokers' Exchange building across the street into the Tonopah block, having rented the corner formerly occupied by the First National bank. The new quarters are more commodious and far more attractive than the old site. A large blackboard will be placed on the walls so that the market quotations can be plainly read. Other important improvements will be made and in a short time the office will be second to none in appearance in the state.

Why Send Out of Town for Your Printing

When you can have first-class work done right here, by first-class union printers.

The business man who sends out of town for his printing injures his own business as well as that of others. While on the other hand the man who patronizes home institutions increases the town's pay roll, and thereby builds up his business.

The printers and book binders in the cities of surrounding states do not come here to spend their money.
